

Builders Risk Policies & Construction Insurance Law

Thursday, January 24, 2019 | 8:45am – 12pm | UBC Robson Square

CLASSROOM | BUILDING | TECHNICAL

There is never an end to new construction no matter what city you live in. We know that this continuous growth and expansion is made possible by the protection provided by the insurance industry. So what are the coverages included in a COC or Builders Risk policy and what types of losses generally occur? Attend this seminar and learn more about this important aspect of our industry and our economy.

SEMINAR OBJECTIVES

- Understand the purpose of a COC policy
- Define who is deemed the insured
- Review common exclusions and their impact on a loss
- Examine how the COC policy is applied at the time of a loss
- Discuss how the courts mitigate COC lawsuits

SEMINAR PRESENTERS

Chris Lockwood, CIP, Assistant Vice President, Charles Taylor Adjusting

Chris has over 22 years of adjusting experience both as an Independent Adjuster and a Senior Examiner with an international insurance company. Prior to joining Charles Taylor Adjusting in 2012, he worked with Commonwealth Insurance Co. in Vancouver where he gained considerable experience handling large losses related to energy, marine, forestry and mining risks. He was named as a Correspondent for the Standard Steamship Owners' Protection and Indemnity Association Limited, where various Maritime exposures are handled on behalf of Europe, Asia and Bermuda interests. Chris also has experience adjusting large commercial property, COC, equipment breakdown and mining equipment losses.

Gregory Tucker, Q.C., Barrister & Solicitor, Owen Bird Law Corporation

Greg advises insurers on coverage under a wide range of policies including commercial property, builders risk, general and commercial liability, wrap-up-liability, professional liability, D&O, E&O, hull and machinery, P&I cargo, and environmental impairment. Greg has acted as counsel or otherwise advised in complex coverage disputes, including disputes involving bad faith allegations, cross-border issues, complex trigger and allocation issues, reinsurance disputes primary-excess disputes, and breach of warranty or condition.
