

Strata, Cannabis and Policy Renewal Trends

Wednesday, May 23, 2018 | 8:45am – 12pm PST | The Coast Capri Hotel

CLASSROOM | BUILDING | TRENDS

It's time to catch up on what's happening in the industry! Are you able to provide the most current and up-to-date advice to your clients at policy renewal? Are you in a position to advise your clients on what happens if they become involved in a strata dispute? Do you know what impact cannabis legislation will have on auto and liquor liability policies? Be prepared by attending this seminar and learning more about current updates and emerging trends to enhance your knowledge.

SEMINAR OBJECTIVES

- Learn about cannabis legislation and the potential impacts on your role as a broker, underwriter or adjuster
- Examine the NEW strata dispute resolution process called CRT
- Review best practices and pitfalls or potential fallout in the application and renewal process

SEMINAR PRESENTERS

From Dolden Wallace Folick LLP

Amelia Martin, Associate

Amelia's practice focuses on insurance defence litigation including representative work in acting for insurers on subrogated claims, defending bodily injury claims, including motor vehicle accidents and occupier's liability claims, and acting for insurers in product liability and property damage claims. Amelia has advocated for clients at all stages of the litigation process including settlement conferences, interlocutory applications, summary trial applications, mediation and trials. She has appeared before the British Columbia Provincial and Supreme Courts, as well as the BC Human Rights Tribunal, and the Ontario Provincial and Superior Courts.

Brent Rentiers, Partner

Brent practices out of the firm's Kelowna office where he handles litigation matters throughout BC's Interior Region. His insurance defence practice focuses on property and construction damage, professionals accused of negligence, and commercial host, liquor and recreational liability, including serious bodily injuries stemming from these latter types of claims. Brent is also experienced in defending insurer's coverage positions, Occupiers Liability claims, out-of-province insured automobiles and handling employment practice liability matters. He has conducted trials before the Supreme Court of British Columbia, as well as the Provincial Courts of British Columbia and Alberta.

Emily Unrau, Associate

Emily joined the firm in 2015 after articling and practicing with a boutique insurance defence and class action firm in Vancouver. Emily's practice focuses on insurance defence litigation including personal injury, property damages, occupiers' liability and professional negligence. Emily has appeared before British Columbia Provincial and Supreme Courts and the British Columbia Human Rights Tribunal. Her representative work includes defense in professional negligence claims, personal injury claims, including motor vehicle claims and occupiers' liability claims, product liability and property damage claims, and subrogation claims. She also has experience defending organizations against allegations of discrimination, and strata corporations before the Civil Resolution Tribunal.
