

Rotary – Peace Corps Workshop

August 4, 2017 University of Denver, Colorado

Develop a committee in your District to promote collaborative projects that bring Rotarians, current Peace Corps Volunteers and Returned Volunteers together for international and community service.

- Learn the benefits of the formal Rotary International and Peace Corps Partnership.
- Find out about tangible projects and activities that can be developed with currently serving Peace Corps volunteers, and community service projects that can be carried out with Returned Peace Corps Volunteer groups in the U.S.
- Expand club membership with recruitment of recently returned volunteers and many former volunteers and staff in your communities.
- Recruit returned Peace Corps volunteers as candidates for scholarships, exchange programs, Peace Institute Fellows, and as speakers or volunteers/advisors for international and community service projects.
- Get information on how Rotary members can do short-term or two year Peace Corps assignments.

A representative sponsored by each U.S. Rotary District is encouraged to attend.

Costs: Costs to participants will be minimal for the workshop to help defray the costs of food and beverages. Discounts at local hotels and limited home stays with fellow Rotarians will be provided.

Contacts: Charlie Hunt, Rotary Club of Denver Lodo (masilae@gmail.com) or Steve Werner, Rotary Club of Denver Southeast (steve@stevewernerconsulting.com).
